ResponseWare Web

The Next Generation in Response Technology

ResponseWare™ Web is a revolutionary new response and interactive polling system for use with BlackBerry® smartphones. ResponseWare Web allows students to respond to questions and polls via the Internet through standard web browsers. The web application immediately transfers their responses to a TurningPoint interactive polling slide typically presented to the audience via an LCD projector.

The diversity of response types – including multiple choice, alphanumeric, multiple response choice, and essay – increases communication options and allows users to easily submit questions electronically to the presenter during an interactive polling session. ResponseWare Web also displays the question and answer choices right on the smartphone.

It's an easy, fun way to boost class participation – and it can help students boost their grades at the same time.
